

Dipl.-Ing. (FH) Christina Renner

Challenges in young animals life – Local immunization and intestinal integrity – Colostrum and Synbiotics

Short overview of how immunization of neonatal animals takes part with detail focus on importance of colostrum,

Development of different levels of immunization (passive, active) depending on colostrum management in front of challenges of young animals in the first weeks of life,

Local immunization and supporting intestinal integrity by viewing mode of actions of colostrum, probiotics (two bacilli strains) and prebiotics.

For details, more information you are most welcome to please contact:

Dipl.-Ing. (FH) Christina Renner, renner@biochem.net